Access to Higher Education in London

A report which explores the composition of 18 – 24-year olds entering HE from London over the next 10 years has been published. The report highlights ethnicity and socioeconomic positions of students. Some of the key findings are:

- The number of students aged 18-24 entering HE from London is projected to increase by over 50% from 2016 to 2030, with over 38,000 extra young students.
- Despite this large increase, for certain ethnic groups – Indian and Chinese – the numbers of students is forecast to fall due to lower population increases and because their entry rate has declined in recent years.
- The research forecasts over 10,000 more students from other (including mixed) and African backgrounds respectively by 2030.
- The number of white students will increase but by only 11%.
- Students of non-white ethnic background will constitute 74% of those entering HE by 2030.
- Nearly 60,000 of the students entering HE in 2030 from London (54%) will be the first in their family to go to HE.
